

ACTION ALERT

November 16, 2017

Dear credit union advocate,

Your action is requested.

A bipartisan group of United States Senators on the Senate Banking Committee recently released regulatory reform legislation that benefits credit unions. It has a strong focus on Main Street financial institutions, not on Wall Street. Click here for sample wording and to contact Senators Durbin and Duckworth. Urge them to support this bipartisan, regulatory reform legislation.

This regulatory relief bill supports credit unions, small banks, and the consumers and small businesses that they serve. It provides protections against elder abuse and ensures credit union loans are treated the same as their bank counterparts.

In today's hyper-partisan political environment, it is refreshing to see elected officials working together on legislation that impacts 110 million credit union members. Our Senators need to hear that you support this important legislation!

Thanks for all you do for credit unions and for your grassroots help with this important issue.

All the best,
